

Director's Planning Chart

How many actors I need for my play:

Description of the scenery:

Music/sound effects I will be using:

Sketch of costumes:

How I would make my production unique:

Director's Planning Chart

Use the following storyboard to show where the actors would be standing for each part of the story.

The storyboard consists of four empty rectangular panels with rounded corners, arranged in a 2x2 grid. Each panel is intended for a student to draw the positions of actors for a specific part of a story. The panels are separated by thin black lines and have a slight drop shadow effect.