

Reflection Journal

Between process drama and formal theatre, which experience did you enjoy? Why?

How might having a script help an actor create a character?

How might process drama help an actor create a character?

Which drama conventions would you use in future drama work? Why?