

Moving Body Parts in Different Directions

How can you move in one direction with one body part?

How can you move in another direction with a different body part?