

Beginning, Middle, and End

Beginning	Middle	End
e.g., The beginning of a story is where the author hooks the audience and introduces the main characters, setting, and plot.	e.g., The middle of the story is when the problem or action takes place.	e.g., The end of the story is where the problem is resolved.