

Summer is Better Than Winter

Summer is the best season of all. It is much better than winter. Summer is the best season because the clothes you wear in summer are more comfortable than winter clothes. The days are also longer in the summer, so you have more daylight to play outside. Best of all, in the summer there are fun festivals to participate in.

In the summer you can wear all kinds of fun and colorful clothes. For example, you get to wear shorts that give you more freedom to move and sandals that stop your feet from sweating. In the winter you must wear hats, and mitts and heavy coats to keep you warm. It's hard to move around and play outside with all of that stuff on. Not only are summer clothes more comfortable, but the days are longer to play outside.

There are more daylight hours during the summer than in the winter. This extra daylight gives you more time to play outside with your friends, like swimming or biking. It also gives you more time to spend by yourself outside when you want to be alone or spend time with nature. The best part is being able to go for long bike rides or hiking on cool evenings. In the winter you must be inside when it gets dark and the cold weather makes you want to go inside, too. With the extra daylight hours during the summer there are fun activities like festivals to attend.

During the summer there are loads of festivals to go to. There are music festivals like rock concerts or local bands in community parks. Towns have fireworks on special nights during the summer as well to celebrate holidays. Open air food markets happen during the summer so that people can buy from local farmers. You cannot do those things in winter.

Summer is Better Than Winter

Summer is better than winter because it offers more comfort, freedom, and activities. The warmer weather allows people to be more comfortable in sandals and shorts instead of bulky snowsuits. With more daylight hours, people can enjoy activities like biking and swimming and events like summer festivals and concerts. So, take time to enjoy summer with all its freedoms and extra time to be outside with friends...because winter always comes and it's cold!