

Triangles in Real Life

This is an ice cream cone. It forms a triangle that has 2 equal sides. Do you think it is an equilateral, isosceles or scalene triangle? Explain your reasoning.

How could you prove your answer?

Can you share other examples of triangles in the real world?